Morning Conference

Dr. Marco Conci will discuss his remarkably comprehensive new biography on the life and work of Harry Stack Sullivan, founder of interpersonal psychiatry and psychoanalysis. Conci weaves Sullivan’s story in a vivacious, compelling and appreciative way, brilliantly bridging diverse cultural and conceptual dimensions. With simple precision, Conci shows how essential Sullivanian concepts such as the “self system,” “participant observation,” and “consensual validation” all ingeniously anticipated the cornerstones of contemporary psychotherapy practice and psychoanalytic theory.

A brief audio recording of HS Sullivan will be played during the program with a discussion by Mauricio Cortina, M.D.

Learning Objectives

Participants will be able to:

1. Identify the central elements of Sullivan’s theoretical formulations.
2. Identify the Sullivan’s central contributions to psychotherapy practice.

9-AM 12:15PM

Presenter

Marco Conci, MD, psychiatrist and psychoanalyst, is the author of Sullivan Revisited: Life and Work (Tangram Edizioni, 2012). He is a member of the German, the Italian and the International Psychoanalytic Association and works in Munich, Germany and Trento, Italy. He has the distinction of being the editor for the Italian edition of Freud’s letters to childhood friend Eduard Silberstein, and for editing the Italian edition of Sullivan’s book Schizophrenia as a Human Process. He is the Coeditor-in-chief of the International Forum of Psychoanalysis and also a Corresponding Editor of Contemporary Psychoanalysis.

Afternoon Master Class:

In this Master Class, limited to members and students of the WSP and ICP&P, Dr. Conci will present a case report from his analytic practice and discuss how Sullivan’s ideas impact the treatment process.

Learning Objectives

Participants will be able to:

1. Be able to apply Sullivan’s theoretical formulations to a clinical case.
2. Be able to apply Sullivan’s clinical contributions to a clinical case.

2-4PM
